The Art and Science of Spiritual Care

If you are a health or care worker and interested in being better equipped to provide holistic support to people, then this workshop is for you

Friday 11 May 2018
9.30am—4.30pm

Venue: Baptist Care

Unit 3, 5-7 Stephen St. Melrose Park, SA

Why spiritual care?

We commence from the premise that we are whole persons who incorporate many dimensions, including a body, mind and a spirit.

Caring for the spirit includes ways of being and ways of doing with/for another person that promote hope, compassion, connection and meaning for life's journey.

"...in health care we join people on their life journey and for a time we travel with them. We need to understand better who they are and how we can work with them as partners on that journey. Central to this is the understanding of them as individuals who have many dimensions, including a spiritual one."

Sarah Mullally, former Chief Nursing Officer, UK NHS (2004)

Come and learn more about how you can provide quality spiritual care in your work or in your ministry.

Internationally recognised

This program was developed by Nurses Christian Fellowship International. It has been presented in Europe, Asia, Africa, USA, Canada, Asia, the Pacific region and now in Australia.

The two trained presenters from NCFI who will be teaching you this course are:

Caring for your career

This workshop is an endorsed course by the Australian College of Nursing.

You will be awarded 8 CPD points on course completion.

Practical and flexible

This one day interactive workshop comes from a Christian perspective and is designed to provide you, as a worker in health and/or pastoral care, with skills to assess and address the spiritual concerns of the people you serve from various religious and cultural backgrounds and diverse settings.

Our workshop covers

1. Overview of spiritual care
2. Assessing spiritual needs
3. Spiritual care and interventions
4. Challenges in providing spiritual care

The workshop is interactive, practical, culturally sensitive and applied to your context.
